Interior Designer

I enjoy to design because it affects the lives of people indirectly, no matter where you work. Bad and good choices help affect the environment where people work, rest or play, and that's the reason design has been an attractive idea to me since I began studying it in college.

Smartworks | Nagavara, Bangalore

Design Intern

Junior Interior Designer

Assistant Pan-India design coordinator

During my time at Smartworks, I began as a design intern, where I honed my foundational skills in interior design and contributed to various design projects. After three months, I was offered a permanent position as a Junior Interior Designer, where I took on more responsibilities in project development, collaborating closely with the team to bring creative design solutions to life. In the final two months of my time there, I was also given the role of Assistant Pan-India Design Coordinator, overseeing design consistency and project coordination across multiple locations, which strengthened my project management and cross-functional coordination skills.
